The Robotics Day Vorarlberg offers an exploration of the intersection of robotics, technology and supply chain management at Feinbrennerei Prinz. It will illustrate how efficiency and precision are maximized in logistics planning and execution. Feinbrennerei Prinz will serve as a living example of the successful integration of robot technologies into the production and distribution process. This Robotics Day not only offers a look behind the scenes of the fine distillery, but also presents academic insights into the latest developments and research in the field of robotics in the supply chain. This illustration provides insights into a world of innovation, science and practice, and how technology is shaping the future of the supply chain.

Places on the excursion are limited to 20 participants. Register quickly - first come, first serve.
